

Rising to Meet Your Soul Market: How Soulful Marketing Transforms Your Business

Andrea Costantine is the perfect blend of business and spirituality, bringing heart and soul to your marketing, and more profit to your business.

As a speaker, marketing specialist, and writer Andrea works with conscious minded entrepreneurs to develop soulful whole person marketing strategies so that their business can thrive and be a true expression of who they really are.

Andrea's business mission is to help others serve the world and to be of service. She integrates whole person and spiritual marketing strategies to help individuals grow their businesses authentically and strategically. Andrea is a dynamic speaker, who engages her audience, and inspires them to market from the heart.

Rising to Meet Your Soul Market: How Soulful Marketing Transforms Your Business

In this presentation, you will discover: Three simple shifts for putting more soul into your marketing. The number one mindset mistake and how to shift it. How your business can thrive in any economy using one powerful technique.

Other topics include:

How to Thrive through Service: Mindset techniques to make your marketing more fun and easy by taking the selling out of your services and adopting a winning mindset.

Conscious Entrepreneur Attraction Factor: Discover the sole reason why your business may be striving or thriving. Combine authenticity, alignment and belief and raise your attraction factor.

Andrea is a wonderful presenter. She is very authentic, present and humble. The way she presents information feels as if she is directing to you personally, even if she is speaking to a room of many, many people. The material she offers is easy to absorb, heartfelt and of a very high value to the conscious business communities. I encourage anyone that has an opportunity to work with Andrea to do so. She has a gift that many will benefit from for years to come.

Andrea Costantine was a speaker for Women, Wine, and Wellness in 2009. Her talk was of great value to those in attendance and left us inspired to be authentic in marketing ourselves and attracting even more clients and opportunities to our lives. I highly recommend Andrea as a speaker to share her wisdom and experience in a refreshing and insightful way.

I have had the privilege of participating in several of Andrea Costantine's workshops, seminars and tele-seminars and am blown away each time. Her style is refreshingly authentic, raw, inspirational and empowering. She has the ability to break down concepts into easily understood terms, with engaging exercises and stories mixed in to reinforce the content. I highly recommend all Andrea offers to the professional community.
